Stuart Poston; Susan Usrey, Mrs. Irma LaFollette, Mayor John Scott, Anne Flood, Lochie Hart, Rosezella Outland, Caroline Rodden, Dan Rodden, Jan-na Hughes, and Walt Apperson.

Nutrition-Activities Program Begins Here

The first meal was served Monday under a new federally-funded program that is being initiated here by the Murray-Calloway County Senior Citizens organization.

The program is designed to provide nutritional meals for senior citizens as well as to "get the participants in the mainstream of life," Allen Blaustein, director of the local Senior Citizens program said.

Blaustein, along with Dan Rodden, chairman of the local project, said that currently the meals and activities will be held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week at the Douglas Community Center at noon.

"The nutrition committee of the Murray-Calloway County Senior Citizens board has been working on planning the project since October of 1975," Blaustein said. "We are in the process of purchasing additional equipment and supplies for the operation of the program," he added. The program is presently limited to 20 participants per meal day. Additional persons who are interested in the program may have their names placed on a waiting list.

After the program has been in operation for three months the committee hopes to expand it to include 35 persons, and hopefully expand to five days a week, Rodden said. Also at that time the committee hopes to begin preparation of the food served on its own. At the present time, the food service is contracted through the Murray-Calloway County Hospital.

Rodden and Blaustein emphasized that the program is not designed as a "welfare" program. They said participants are asked to make a donation toward the cost of the meal.

"The donations are anonymous," Blaustein pointed out, "and those who can afford the full price ($1.60) for the meal contribute that much. Others contribute only what they can afford."

Transportation to and from the Douglas Center can be provided. Further information can be obtained at the Senior Citizens Center, 205 S. 7th St., or by calling 753-0929.

Those serving on the nutrition committee include Rodden as chairman, Irma LaFollette, vice-chairman; Jana Hughes, secretary; Louise Sickel, Caroline Rodden, Rosezella Outland, Ann Flood, JoAnne Harmon, Rev. C. E. Timberlake, and Mrs. Helen Hogancamp.

Nationwide Strike By Workers For Ford Motors Appears Sure

DETROIT (AP) — A nationwide strike by 170,000 Ford Motor Co. workers appeared certain for midnight today after United Auto Workers bargainers, rejecting the company's latest offer, left the negotiating room with no plans to return.

President Ford said in Washington today a strike would hurt the nation's economy and he expressed hope a settlement still is possible.

"A strike could have, would have, some unfavorable aspects as far as the economy is concerned," Ford said in an interview on NBC-TV's "Today Show."

A Ford spokesman said today negotiators for both sides were on call but no meetings were scheduled. The spokesman said there were no reports of substantial absenteeism this morning when the first shift checked in at Ford plants.

UAW President Leonard Woodcock said Monday he feared it would be "absolutely impossible" to arrive at an agreement before the 11:59 p.m. EDT deadline.

He said there was only a "one-in-a-hundred" chance of avoiding the first full-scale walkout against Ford since 1967.

Even Ford officials conceded for the first time that they no longer were hopeful of avoiding a strike over a new three-year contract. "I'm not particularly optimistic," the company's top bargainer, Vice President Sidney F. McKenna, said in announcing details of the firm's latest offer.

A strike would force shutdown of 102 facilities in 22 states — from Massachusetts to California — and paralyze the nation's No. 2 auto maker.

If the UAW strikes and the walkout is a prolonged one, up to 170,000 auto supply employees could face layoffs.

In addition, a spokesman for Ford Canada said that even though both sides agreed to extend the current contract for Ford workers in Canada, a strike in the United States would lead to the layoffs of 14,000 employees within a week due to parts shortages.

Financial analysts say a brief strike would have no harsh impact on Ford, its workers or the economy. However, a walkout of more than four weeks could begin to hurt the firm and its employees financially and dampen the nation's economic recovery.

Carter Agrees With Ford On Not Admitting Vietnam To UN

By DAVE RILEY
Associated Press Writer

Jimmy Carter agrees with President Ford's refusal to allow Vietnam to join the United Nations and says the men appointed to the Supreme Court by Ford and Richard Nixon are doing a good job.

It apparently is part of an effort by the Carter campaign to put a more conservative foot forward in the second week of the candidate's travels in search of votes. But that hasn't slowed Carter's criticism of Ford's leadership.

The President defended his stay-at-home strategy today, saying that as long as the Democratic-controlled

Congress is in session he has to "make sure it doesn't go off the deep end."

Ford said in an interview: "When we do have an opportunity following the time Congress adjourns, we certainly will be campaigning. With Congress in session, it is vitally important that someone be here to check on their activities."

The President spoke on NBC-TV's "Today Show."

Drugs Involved

Nine Charged By Police At Rock Concert

Nine persons, including two juveniles, were arrested on drug charges at a rock concert at Murray State University last night. Officials said none of those arrested were MSU students.

Four of those, including the two juveniles, were hospitalized at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital for treatment of drug overdoses, according to hospital officials.

One of the juveniles was treated and released at the hospital, and the other is in satisfactory condition in the intensive care unit of the hospital. The juveniles will be charged with public intoxication and disorderly conduct, officials said.

Dale Rayburn, 19, is in satisfactory condition at the hospital, and is charged with public intoxication and disorderly conduct, according to hospital officials, and Murray City Police.

John Langston, 18, was treated and released, and has been charged with public intoxication, according to hospital officials and police. Langston has been released on $30 bond.

Pamela Chandler, 19, has been released on $30 bond after being charged with public intoxication, according to police.

Kent Faulconer, 20, is being held in Murray City Jail on charges of public intoxication and disorderly conduct, according to police. His bond is $80.

Terry Dunston, 18, has been charged with possession of marijuana, and is lodged in the city jail, according to police. His bond is $300.

Anne Jones, 19, has been charged with possession of marijuana and is lodged in city jail, according to police, who also said that charges for possession for purpose of resale are pending. Her bond is $2,500.

Jerry Baker, 21, is being held in city jail on charges of possession of marijuana, and charges for possession for purpose of resale are pending, according to police. His bond is $2,500.

City Police, who made the arrests with the assistance of university security officers, said the arrests were, for the most part, separate incidents at the rock concert.

Police said three pounds of marijuana, 25 marijuana cigarettes, 45 assorted pills, two smoking devices, and several syringes and assorted paraphernalia were confiscated.

Green said he is writing a letter today to university officials urging that the university not promote such concerts in the future, due to the fact that drug use is apparently commonplace at many of them, and that the majority of those in attendance are not Murray State students.

Dr. Constantine Curris, president of the university, said in a statement this morning, "We are in the process of a review of the concert, and understand that none of those arrested was a Murray State University student. In no way do we condone this type of behavior, and we must seriously examine the desirability of restricting our concerts to Murray State University students. We cannot allow a recurrence of this type of behavior, and I do not think it appropriate for the university to engage in frisk and seizure procedures in order to provide our students with entertainment."

The concert was sponsored by the university student government organization, and was held in the MSU fieldhouse.

Senate Ready To Pass Revenue Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is ready to pass a 5 1/2-year extension of the federal revenue-sharing program that would return $41.2 billion to the nation's states, counties and municipalities.

The Senate added prohibitions on discrimination based on religion, age and physical handicaps in programs receiving revenue-sharing money. A final vote is scheduled today.

The current revenue-sharing program expires Dec. 31. It was the hallmark of then-President Richard M. Nixon's "New Federalism" when it was established in 1972 and has distributed approximately $30 billion to 39,000 municipalities, counties and states since then.

No significant opposition to the extension emerged during Senate debate Monday. In June, the House passed a 3 1/2-year extension that would guarantee $24.9 billion for the local and state governments.

Differences between the two bills would have to be worked out in a House-Senate conference, with only a few weeks before the Oct. 2 target date for adjournment for the November elections.

Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, who offered the antidiscrimination amendments to the bill as it was approved earlier by the Senate Finance Committee, said the Treasury Department has refused to carry out "a reasonable civil rights program" in administering revenue-sharing.

The committee bill prohibits discrimination based on national origin, race, color and sex.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., the committee chairman, said the areas added by Gravel's amendment were already covered in current civil rights laws.

Under both the House and Senate measures, the states get one-third of the money and the municipal and county governments get the rest.

The House bill provided funding of $6.65 billion annually, but the Senate bill increases that by $200 million each year to cover inflation.

The House included the same basic civil rights provisions in its bill.

Students Receive Caps At Ceremony

Sixteen students of the Murray School of Practical Nursing received their caps Friday morning, September 10. The impressive capping service was held in Hale's Chapel of the Murray First United Methodist Church.

Featured speaker Ann Ingle, RN, Nurse Practitioner at Murray State University's Student Health Services, stressed to the students the importance of basic nursing skills to quality patient care. The caps were then presented by Joyce Morrison, RN, program coordinator and Shirley Robinson, RN, instructor.

The traditional presentation of caps took place upon the students' completion of eighteen weeks of pre-clinical training. The students from Calloway, Fulton, Graves and Marshall counties in Western Kentucky now begin thirty-one weeks of clinical nursing training.

Upon graduation from the school in April 1977, each student will be eligible to take the state board examination to become a licensed practical nurse. The Murray School of Practical Nursing is administered by the Murray Area Vocational Center and is affiliated with the Murray-Calloway County Hospital and Convalescent Division for clinical practice.

Parents of Murray Cooperating Pre-School Meet At The School

Blames Abby for Losing Her Man

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I know you'll never print this, but I just want you to know that your advice has ruined one life. Mine.

Ten years ago I was going with Paul, a guy I really loved. He wanted me to go all the way with him, and I really wanted to, but I had it drummed into me that I should save myself for marriage, so I wrote to you for advice. You told me that if I lost Paul because I wouldn't give in, he wasn't worth having.

Well, Paul met another girl who gave him what he wanted, and he married her. They've been married for eight years and have a great marriage.

If I had given in to Paul, he'd have married me instead. I'm married to a nice guy, but I still love Paul and always will. I wish I hadn't taken your advice. Thanks for nothing.

SORRY

DEAR SORRY: When a girl asks me if she should go all the way, I advise against it on the theory that she lacks the maturity to handle that kind of relationship, or she wouldn't be asking.

P.S. How do you know how "great" Paul's marriage is? And how can you be sure he would have married you had you given in?

DEAR ABBY: I am a diabetic and should not have sugar. My problem is how to stay on my restricted diet and still enjoy some kind of social life.

I belong to a club and a church circle, and the refreshments they serve are loaded with sugar. I've been eating the refreshments, even though I know I shouldn't, because I don't want to advertise the fact that I'm diabetic, and I feel awkward refusing refreshments while everyone else is eating.

I don't know how to handle this situation. I suppose the simplest solution would be to stay away from the meetings, but isn't there another answer?

DIABETIC

DEAR DIABETIC: Your problem is being embarrassed about a condition over which you have no control. You need not "advertise" it, but you could let your hostess know in advance that you can't tolerate sugar. You are foolish to hide it, and even more foolish to go off your diet and upset your sugar level.

DEAR ABBY: I was amused to see in your column the letter from "TRAVELIN' MAN" who said that years ago, bums and drifters would stop by the back door of the undertaker's to try on used choppers for size. You replied, "Recycled dentures? You're puttin' me on!"

Abby, he was not puttin' you on. Back in the 30s, there was a general merchandise store in Barnhart, Mo., (20 miles south of St. Louis) that featured a washtub full of used dentures for sale. People would come in and try them on for size—germs and all.

The store has since burned down, but I can vouch for the fact that there was such a place.

Dr. Lorrach Spends Summer In England

Dr. Jean Lorrach, Associate Professor of English at Murray State University, has returned from spending her Summer Professional Improvement Leave in England.

As she is a specialist in Medieval British Literature, she spent the summer tracing the Pilgrim's Way from Winchester to Canterbury.

Dr. Jean Lorrach

"Most people are familiar with Medieval pilgrims from Chaucer's Canterbury Tales," says Dr. Lorrach. "In his time, the most-frequented shrine in England was that of Thomas a Becket, in Canterbury. However, the pilgrimages did not begin with the martyrdom of Becket; they originally went to shrines all over the world, and for centuries the most famous one in England was that of St. Swithun, in Winchester. Thus, later, what had originally been the end of most pilgrimages in England became the beginning, and the route from Winchester to Canterbury was traveled with

Down the Garden Path

By MRS. W. P. WILLIAMS

I think we will treasure every flower that blooms from now on until frost. Just knowing that we will have them only a little while longer, will make them more precious. I believe the blooms take on an added loveliness at this time of the year, anyway. The coloring seems to deepen and the foliage has a richer glow, as if to give of its best before it is gone.

These cooler days are splendid for gardening. It is much more pleasant to work awhile in a flower bed in the early morning when the temperature is in the seventies. It is not too early to start cleaning up the flower beds. For much of the foliage of annuals has already begun to fade. In working a few minutes I found many weeds that were hidden and just ready to go to seed.

My next task is to get the ground ready for bulbs. I have new Narcissus on order and some crocus to add to my small patch in the front yard. I was sorely tempted to order some tulips, but really don't have the right place for them. I love lilies, also, but won't try any this year. They are reasonably easy to grow and are so stately and beautiful. Their requirements for soil and culture are just a little more than I want to take on right now.

I guess I am getting lazy, but I am planting nothing that has to be moved each fall, or dug up and separated, or that need much pruning or caring for. My plants are mostly bulbs, shrubs and annuals. I know I am missing a lot. There are things like Dahlias, Cannas, Tuberous Begonias, that I love dearly. But shrubs and annuals give me blossoms from February to December. What more could one want! Yes my garden is strictly a lazy man's garden.

Rose blossoms in the fall are often finer than those produced in the spring. So keep on spraying and snipping off the spent blossoms. You may have the blossoms all through November. They will need water if it continues to be so dry. Hanging baskets certainly show the effects of dry weather. So keep them well watered. It is interesting to see how quickly they respond to a good dousing.

How about planting a row of Daylilies along a fence or in a row at the side of the yard. They bloom so profusely and are really colorful. They would fit in with a lazy gardener's garden too.

Drive Underway

Dear Editor:

Carter Elementary School PTA has kicked off a drive this week aimed at acquiring new playground equipment for the children. The equipment will be provided by Post Cereal brands of the General Foods Corporation in exchange for Post Cereal box tops—the portion of the box top that includes the Post "Freshness Date."

The PTA has received a catalog and the following are examples of equipment from which we can choose: Six swings in a set, 16,300 box tops; merry-go-round 13,300 tops; multi-use rubber ball 125 tops; volley ball 130 tops; football 225 tops; basketball backboard 8,750 tops; fold-a-gym 5,590 tops. These are just a few things out of the catalog.

We're delighted to be able to get playground equipment free, and we hope all our friends will help us save as many Post Cereal box tops as possible. Box tops from any size package will count toward the goal and they may be turned over to Carter School students or delivered to the school any time before March 31, 1977. Children attending Carter School may deliver the box tops to their classroom teachers who will give them to the PTA officers.

Carter Elementary School is located on South 13th Street with Dennis Taylor as principal and Ann Burke as head of the physical education program.

Anyone wishing to donate Post Cereal box tops to the project may call the following members and some PTA member will come and pick them up: 753-8298, 753-7791, 753-8168, 753-5561, or 753-8062.

Let's Stay Well

Diving Injuries
And Deaths Increase

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Diving injuries now occur more frequently than in the past. Such an increase resulted from the enormous growth in sport diving and commercial underwater activities requiring more professional divers. These are mostly used by the oil companies in offshore work.

Diving is hazardous, even for those who are fairly well trained. This includes shallow, non-compression dives," according to Vincent Caruso, M.D., assistant professor of otolaryngology at the University of Texas Medical Branch, Galveston. He was quoted recently in the Journal of the American Medical Association and has quit diving because of the injuries he has seen, even though he is a well-trained diver.

In their recent article, Dr. Caruso and his associates reported on 11 patients who were injured. Their injuries consisted of two varieties—one to the ears, and the other, more serious (decompression sickness), to the central nervous system. Decompression sickness results from air "bubbling" out of the blood from returning too quickly to lower pressures after having been at higher pressures under water.

The authors point out that diving death statistics are gloomy figures which show an increase. Some idea of the seriousness of the problem can be noted in that 342 diving deaths occurred in Florida between 1960 and 1975, the vast majority of whom were men.

These physicians are not referring to diving injuries among trained swimmers such as we admired at the recent Olympic Games but those divers who use scuba equipment, air hoses, and snorkels. In this latter group, training is limited, and they have little knowledge of the risks.

The authors recommend training by a reputable teacher who is associated with a recognized group, such as a local people planning to study diving should have a thorough general examination and certain special tests before beginning training, and have progress checkups, especially if any near-accident or other trouble is experienced in the water or shortly after coming out of it.

Being a good swimmer helps, but is not enough. Diving hazards can be lessened by good health, first-rate equipment kept in repair, and by adequate training.

Q. Mr. O. K. says that his 12-year-old nephew recovered from Reye syndrome last year following a case of flu and wants to know if any new information has been gathered to help in managing such cases.

A: Most authorities believe that this mysterious illness is better understood. It appears to be on the increase, more common for some reason in our rural areas. Reye syndrome is triggered by some severely toxic substance, such as a virus or a chemical, which brings on an elevation of ammonia in the blood.

Some people may have a defect in handling ammonia, which becomes toxic. Treatment now is directed toward using medications which enhance the removal of ammonia. This approach in management looks hopeful, but additional experience is needed to be certain of its effectiveness.

Q. Mr. T. A. asks why men fail to live as long as women.

A: It is a fact that women on the average outlive men. The reasons are complex and not completely understood. The major causes of death are related to thickening of the walls of arteries and the formation in them of blood clots (thrombi). These appear to form more readily in men because of the influence of the male hormone testosterone and account for the increased incidence of heart attacks and strokes in men as compared to

Garrott's Galley

Racers' Thoroughbred Is Great Crowd-Pleasing Idea

One of the most talked-about things to take place on the Murray State campus in many moons has been the introduction of the football Racers' new mascot — a real, honest-to-Betsy, registered thoroughbred who streaks around the track under a jockey's whip every time the home team scores a touchdown.

In the opening game with Southeast Missouri, the horse, a 7-year-old mare given to the university in 1974 by Dr. N. B. Paulatos of Springfield, Ohio, made two trips around the quarter-mile track in record time as the Racers won 14-3.

Last Saturday night, however, it was a different story. She only got to circle the track during the pre-game ceremonies as the band played "The Old Grey Mare Ain't What She Used to Be."

Sitting beside me in the pressbox was Horace McCune, the former coach of Delta State and now its athletic director. As McCune watched the horse streak past the stands with its tail straight out, he was heard to mutter, "Get a good look at it folks, 'cause you ain't going to see it run any more tonight." He knew what he was talking about, as the Mississippians blanked the Racers 14-0.

For some time now, students and university officials alike have been trying to come up with a novel idea for a mascot for the athletic teams — particularly the football team — and a thoroughbred, naturally, has been consistently considered.

If anyone can be credited with the idea of saddling one up and having it race around the track after each touchdown, it should go to Dr. Dick Stout, the perennial spark plug of the Big M Club. And, there is a story behind that.

Back in 1959, Dick was a halfback on a rather hapless Murray State team. The Racers were playing Arkansas State at Jonesboro and were well on the way to losing their 6th game in what turned out to be a winless 0-10 season.

Arkansas State teams are known as Indians, and on the field that day was an Indian teepee. Nearby was a horse, a blanket on its back and its reins hanging loose.

Every time Arkansas State would score, a coed, dressed as an Indian squaw, would fling back the flap to the teepee and out would bound an Indian brave, colorfully painted in warpaint. With a piercing war cry, he would leap astride the waiting horse, and race around the field to the cheers of the crowd.

By halftime, the score was 35-0 in favor of Arkansas State. The horse was so winded from circling the track — three times in quick succession — his tongue was hanging out and the brave was rubbing his bottom. They had made the trip six times.

In the dressing room at halftime, Murray Coach Jim Cullivan, naturally, was trying to recharge his team. First one and then the other he would ask, "And what are you going to do to turn this thing around?" Each would respond with some fired-up, Spartan vow to stop the Indians.

"And, Stout!" the coach yelled at Dick. "What are you going to do the next half?"

"Coach, I'm going to do my damndest to stop that horse!" cried Dick, leaping to his feet. Cullivan, however, didn't think that was a bit funny, and Dick saw the rest of the game from the sidelines.

He doesn't recall how many more times the horse had to circle the field.

"I never forgot that horse, though, and the spirit of that crowd when it would run," he said the other day. "I have long felt that we should have something like that at Murray State."

Jim Rudolph, Murray State's horsemanship ring master, was consulted, and after overcoming obstacles such as possible damage to the new stadium's track, the possibility of the horse running over someone or tossing its jockey into the box seats at the glare of the band and the noise of the crowd, they've come up with the mare — and a crowd-pleaser she is.

Her quiet temperament is every indication of her familiarity with crowds and bands. She has been on a race track or two in her day, Rudolph confirms, adding:

"She would run with the best of them and with the slow ones, but she would never run in front of them."

Riding the thoroughbred, which is a beautiful bay 16 hands high, has been Carol Robertson, a sophomore agriculture major from Clinton, Md. Carol's colors, blue and gold, were put together by some of the girls in the home economics department. Her saddle and the mare's bridle are authentic racing gear.

Carol is no stranger to horses. She finished third in jumping in the American Quarter Horse Association and sixth in the world championships last year. She already has qualified for this year's world championship competition next month in Oklahoma.

She is perfectly at home aboard the thoroughbred, which in no way has been spoofed by the band or the opening game fireworks display, and she rides like Willie Shoemaker. It's a beautiful sight to watch the two of them streak by the stands. We'd just like to see them run more often.

It's a great "gimmick" and the entire area is indebted to all who had a part in making it possible. The other OVC teams will be hard pressed to come up with a more clever idea. Certainly Western can't "Top" it, and can't you just see Dr. Doran trying to coax an eagle into the air at Morehead!

Meanwhile, Hi-Lo, Silver! And Away!

New Court System Will Be Confusing, Costly, Judge Says

By JAMES R. RUSSELL
Courier-Journal Staff Writer
MURRAY, Ky. — The new state court system is a can of worms that will cost a fortune Calloway County Judge Robert O. Miller believes.

Miller's skepticism extends to nearly every aspect of the new state court system that was approved by the voters as a constitutional amendment last November.

During a recent interview in his office here, he voiced objections that ranged from cost to confusion, and the loss of local authority to big government in Frankfort.

Miller is president of the Kentucky County Judges' Association and is one of the state's 230 county judges whose duties will be changed after January 1978.

Miller said that the majority of his association disapproves of the changes that the Judicial Article will bring to their offices.

The judges agreed, however, to give up their judicial duties, he said. The vote was not unanimous, because some wanted to keep juvenile and probate courts, he said.

Miller, 57 years old and a veteran of 24 years in county government, has been working most of the summer with his association and the Special Advisory Commission on County Government in developing recommendations for the new system.

Philosophically, he disagrees with it. New state district courts go into effect Jan. 1, 1978. They take away the judicial duties of the county judges, magistrates and city police judges.

County judges will become executives, or administrators of county business. Magistrates will become policymakers. City police judges will cease to exist.

"Whether or not the new courts serve the people depends on how they structure and operate them," Miller said.

"If they structure and operate them on the knowledge I have right now, I think they will not serve the people as well as the present system is doing at the local level," he said.

"If the premise is true that government at the local level is best, obviously you won't have local government unless you have a district judge in every county," Miller said.

"And if they pay them what they say they're going to pay them, then obviously you can't afford it," he said.

Miller was referring to the current recommendation for the distribution of district judges. In some areas, as many as four counties will share one or two district judges.

This recommendation, however, is constantly changing. Ultimately, the number of judges and their locations will be decided by the General Assembly when it goes into special session later this year.

At that session the "political realities" will be wrestled with: carrying out the local government concept by creating at least one district per county and hoping the taxpayers won't mind paying for them.

That's one of the knotty issues, according to Miller.

"I'm a little concerned about what's happening in Kentucky as far as local government is concerned.

"We hear the governor and our senators and congressmen saying that grassroots government is the closest to the people and should be able to govern best.

"But our history in the first 10 years has been that the state is taking over. It took the PUHs (property valuation administrators), this year they're taking over the circuit clerks, in 1978 they're taking over the judges, and I predict that 1985, they'll take over the sheriffs and run law enforcement with a state-paid, directed official," Miller said.

Even though the district judges will be elected, they will be employees of the state, directed by the state and subject to removal by the chief justice of the Supreme Court, Miller said.

"Will the state hustle those district judges to convict enough people to pay the expenses of the system?" Miller asked.

"This thing has to pay for itself some way, either by the taxpayer or revenue that the courts generate," he said.

Then there's the problem of the county that may not have its own judge. In those cases, a trial commissioner will be appointed to handle limited judicial duties.

Miller points out that the trial commissioner will not be accountable to the people. It will be part-time and, perhaps will be unwilling to "get out of bed at 1 o'clock in the morning to set bail or issue a warrant."

Additionally, this accountability to the people and local prerogatives to govern will be lost by those counties sharing a judge, Miller said.

He predicted that the largest county will elect the judge or judges for those judicial districts.

"How accountable will he be to the smaller counties? If he chooses, he could write them off," Miller said.

"And having a district judge for more than one county has real problems for me. You can't have justice just on Thursdays.

"Justice has to be swift and certain, and if it is to be swift and certain, obviously you can't wait for a circuit rider to come to town," Miller said.

Miller said that he is a strong advocate of "personal justice"—a condition that won't exist with an out-of-county judge.

To administer justice properly, the judge needs to know the person, his family and his background, said Miller, who has been a county judge here for 12 years and has served another 12 years as county attorney.

Miller acknowledged that the judicial duties of the county judge traditionally have carried "political clout" with them.

"I don't resent the loss of my judicial power, but I think a certain percentage of the judges do," he said.

Nodding toward his outer office, he said, "If you stayed around all day, you'd see that I'm a father-confessor, defender of civil liberties and listener; anybody with problems in Kentucky traditionally takes them to their county judge.

Miller expects these duties to continue. These chores, plus running a hospital, airport, health department, library, road department and other administrative duties are enough to keep him busy, he said.

"But, still, they're going to pay a district judge from $27,000 to $33,000 for doing about one-fifth the things a county judge has been doing for $16,000 or less," Miller said.

He acknowledged that the people voted for the Judicial Article, but he thinks that they didn't know what they were voting for.

"And I don't think the leadership knew what they were doing, and I don't think they know yet what all of the problems are connected with this thing," he said.

"It's a tremendous bag of worms, and in my judgment it will cost a fortune."

Among other problems Miller foresees is space for the district courts. He said that few, if any, courthouses have the room.

Another problem: when the state starts collecting fines and forfeitures that used to go to local courts, how will that revenue be returned to the counties and cities?

Miller's county will lose between $8,000 and $10,000, and the city of Murray this year budgeted some $65,000 from expected fines and forfeitures from police court.

Then there's just the monumental problem of re-organizing county government.

Every office in the courthouse will be affected, Miller said.

"It's the most radical change in government since I've been around," he added.

He leaned back and sipped from his coffee cup, bearing the motto: "The Lord giveth and the government taketh away."

If Christ bears OUR burdens, as well as our sins, then we surely ought to be willing to assist others in bearing the burdens of life that beat them down.

Good Neighbors Outnumber Bad Apples But Misuse Of CB Still Annoying To Police

By CHRIS FRENCH
Associated Press Writer
Good neighbors outnumber bad apples on the CB channels, but police say misuse of citizen band airwaves can be annoying — and sometimes deadly.

An Associated Press national survey of state and local police indicates that for the most part the estimated 6 million CBers in this country have been helpful. And the police say this even though CBers are fond of reporting highway patrol cars trying to catch speeders. Police say that practice results in traffic slowing down.

But there have been grim incidents:

—A woman kidnap victim was killed by her abductors after CBers interfered with a ransom drop.

—A vigilante posse of citizens' band operators chased the wrong truck for 75 miles thinking it had sideswiped another vehicle.

—A Pennsylvania man shot another CB enthusiast after an argument on the air over use of a channel.

—In California, officers monitoring the CB network found that during a civil disturbance those involved were using CB radios to protect their flanks.

Florida Highway Patrol Sgt. Paul Gracey said citizens band operators are becoming an increasing influence on law enforcement operations — both good and bad.

"Like every other part of life, some people abuse CB radio," he said. Mostly, "They report traffic congestion, disabled vehicles, accidents and extent of injuries. It can save three minutes getting to the scene. It doesn't necessarily save anyone's life, but it does get help sooner, and you don't know what might have happened."

But he added, "There are some sick ones who make false accident reports."

"The big problem with CBers is overreaction," said David Arnold, a New York State trooper. "They overreact and get all excited in an emergency situation. But I don't think they are a nuisance."

Other law enforcement agencies reported that the CB operators have helped foil burglaries and car breakins, made reports that resulted in the arrest of a man wanted for the slaying of a police officer, the capture of another sought for killing his wife, and helped gather clues in the Cowchilla, Calif., kidnaping of 26 children and their school bus driver.

One parent of a child aboard the bus said he first learned the children were safe from a citizens band operator.

But CBers can also be an annoyance.

"Sometimes they feel that having a CB unit makes them nearly a policeman," said Sgt.

Robert Marshall of the Little Rock, Ark., police department. "Their intentions are good, but mostly they are a nuisance, being in the way."

An example given by Marshall was the woman who thought she heard a robbery plan being discussed on CB, called police and detectives went to a motel where they found two persons, searched them and found no evidence of wrongdoing.

"We were lucky they were understanding," said Marshall. "We left red-faced."

In Ohio, Richland County Sheriff's Capt. Gene Hart said that his department has had good experiences with CB operators.

"When a Mansfield policeman was killed last February, a CB spotted the getaway car," Hart said. "We've gotten tremendous cooperation from them."

"It's an absolute asset to law enforcement," said Sheriff Bernard Grysen of Ottawa County, Mich. Grysen said the deputies monitor the CB channels, and there have been numerous cases where citizen band operators have helped in recovering stolen cars and catching traffic violators.

"It's been tremendously successful," said Lt. Roderick Moore of the Michigan State Police. "I've got to believe many of those possibly intoxicated drivers would have gotten away if it had not been for the CB reports."

In Alabama, Capt. John Henderson of the state patrol said, "They have helped us solve several crimes and capture several armed robbers."

Henderson said the only interference by CBers with law enforcement are the "Smokey reports" — "Smokey" being CB slang for a highway patrolman. But even the reports on the location of the patrol cars have helped to slow traffic in the area, he said.

Henderson said a robber escaping from a service station holdup recently was bottled up by CB-operating truckers until the highway patrol could arrive and pull the getaway car over.

But in Livingston County, Ill., Sammie J. Graham was ticketed on a charge of interfering with a police officer after being stopped for speeding. The state police said Graham got back in his car after getting the speeding citation and broadcast the location of the police cruiser.

"I have a very positive feeling toward the ability of the officer to communicate with the citizen," said Lt. Col. Alton Crystal, assistant chief of the Iowa Highway Patrol. But he said troopers have to be wary of CB reports and make their own cases.

"The day we start making arrests on the basis of CB transmissions is the day we'll be in court for false arrests."

In Idaho recently, a CB operator whose camper-truck was sideswiped by a pickup, broadcast a description. The result was a 75-mile high speed chase which ended when police intervened. The CB chasers were chastised to find they had been pursuing the wrong truck. The pickup driver was charitable enough not to press charges, police said.

"We've had a few isolated incidents where they were playing vigilante," said Al Brockway, assistant police chief in Helena, Mont. "One involved a person allegedly using foul language on the air, and some CBers took it on themselves to find this person. A fight ensued and it turned out it was the wrong man."

As for the use of CB radios directly in criminal activity, police differ on their effectiveness.

"There are just too many people on the air for criminals to use CB radios to coordinate activities," said Lt. Don Moore of the Colorado Highway Patrol. "I would think that would be virtually impossible. There are just too many ears out there."

But Little Rock's Marshall said that in one instance, thieves using CB radios to coordinate their operation stole more than $10,000 in cash from an office in the Little Rock stockyards. He also said police broke up a burglary of a liquor store when they monitored the thieves who were using the CB radio to keep in contact with their lookouts.

Police generally agree that many CB operators do provide useful information to law enforcement agencies.

Michigan State Police reported that in June there were calls from CB operators resulting in 29 drunk driving arrests, 72 speeding citations and 37 for crimes including 11 felonies.

The California Highway Patrol said that of 36 reports on drunk drivers from CB operators, there were 35 arrests.

Coatsville, Pa., police said that the CB organization "Townwatch" resulted in seven arrests for mugging, burglary and assault in July.

In Boston, police credited CB operators with assisting in keeping tension down during the turmoil resulting from busing for desegregation.

"CBers have sometime assisted when they see someone driving into an area that is tense and advised the party of the situation," said a city police spokesman.

Boston police Capt. John Dow said that in one case a bus driver declined to drive through an area because earlier one driver had been pulled from his vehicle and others had been robbed. He said CB operators working with the Community Action Team, a civilian group, agreed to escort the bus and others until the trouble died down.

As for the cranks operating on the CB network, Jeffrey Young of the Federal Communications Commission admits that it is "an increasing problem, probably in proportion to the growth of CB radio use."

Trapped

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Seven students at the state university campus here were trapped in a stalled elevator for 30 minutes. They had just left a psychology survey in which one of the questions was, "Are you afraid of confined places?"

Maintenance workers rescued the students from the elevator in the psychology building on Monday night. There was no immediate indication whether anyone wanted to change his answer on the quiz.

David Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Noel of Kirksey Route One, found this five-legged frog in a mud puddle near Lynn Grove Thursday morning, September 9. Murphy, an eighth grade student at North Elementary School, said he liked to look for things of this type in the out of doors.

Bazooka Gas Guns Used, Birds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Citizens of nearby Delhi Township recently drove a band of pesky blackbirds from their woods by nightly use of "bazooka gas guns," propane-propelled automatic exploding devices.

But soon afterward, township officials got a call from neighboring Green Township, asking how they could get rid of a flock of the annoying birds that had recently settled there.

"The idea was to disperse the birds," said Cliff Stuart, roads superintendent, "but I am afraid we may have sent them to Green Township."

More than 10 miles of wire can be produced from a single ton of steel.

Women's Army Corps May Soon Be History

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Women's Army Corps, for 34 years the only Army that female soldiers have known, may soon be history.

The House of Representatives, after hearing a committee report that called the separate distinction for more than 40,000 WACs "a vestige of the time when women were not treated equally," voted overwhelmingly Monday to do away with the special women's corps and to integrate fully women into the Army.

The bill, which also eliminates sex distinctions in the promotions of officers and other military policies, passed by a 343 to 4 vote. It now goes to the Senate.

"The Army has arrived," said Air Force Lt. Col. Lucille Dion, acting executive secretary of the Defense Advisory Committee on Women in the Armed Services, in reporting that the Pentagon backs the legislation.

"This would be another step forward for women in the armed services," Lt. Col. Dion said. "It's a logical step."

Created by Congress in 1942 as the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, the small band of women had to wait until later to be rid of the "auxiliary" tag.

In 1972, there were only 13,000 women wearing Army uniforms, but a Pentagon push that year for more womanpower began what has become a steady growth in troop numbers.

Lt. Col. Dion said equal footing with male soldiers would prove beneficial but declined comment on just how the new status would change Army life for the young recruit or career Army woman.

The bill passed by the House would abolish the WACs within 90 days of its enactment.

Women's corps were not created separately for the other services even though they had their own names — Women in the Air Force (WAFs) and Women Accepted for Volunteer Emergency Service (the Navy's WAVES). The bill would abolish the positions of director for the WAVES, which already is vacant, and director of the Women's Marines.

INSULATION USED TO BE A DETAIL. NOW IT'S A PRIORITY.

Used to be, insulation in commercial, industrial and institutional buildings was frequently taken for granted.

The energy crisis has changed all that.

Suddenly, insulation is one of the most important considerations in the planning of any new building. Simply because good insulation saves precious energy.

Which brings us to the buildings we build. Butler buildings. Because they're built around pre-engineered systems, the roof and wall systems are designed with superior insulation to provide you with the best available seal against outside heat and cold, regardless of the climate.

Butler building systems have always been time and money savers. But more important, now they're energy savers. We'd like to show you why. Call us.

Racer Women Cagers Should Be Improved

Let's face the facts. Women's basketball was not a great drawing card last year at Murray State University.

Basically, the Racer women lacked a great deal of experience with only Jana Jones and Debbie Hayes experienced players. Hayes was injured and spent most of the season on the sidelines then later in the year, freshman Jackie Jo Mounts was injured and after that, it was a parade of injuries.

Jones is the only player to graduate of last year's club. Vickie Dillingham, who played in most of the games, recently underwent knee surgery and will be redshirted this season while an outstanding freshman from last year, Denise Griffith, elected to attend the University of Louisville to be with her cousin, Darrell.

Murray has enough experienced players returning to be a good club. But the Racer women should be more than that. Coach Dewdrop Rowlett has announced the signing of a group of players and it might be safe to say the Racer women, as far as height is concerned, can stay on the floor with anyone they'll play.

Mounts is 6-0 while Cindy and Sandy Macovik are 6-0, Cindy Leimbach is 6-2, and Debbie Hayes is 5-10. Those four will all be in the running for starting spots. Also returning are Beverly Parrish, Lee Stokely and Roxanne Maddix.

The most impressive of the new recruits is Mary Jane Gates of Pulaski, New York.

A high school All-American, she stands 6-2. Last year, she averaged 17.2 points per game and had over 1,000 career points. But the most impressive thing about Gates is her ability to move.

Believe it or not, at 6-2, she runs the 440-yard dash in 58.5. Not only that, she does the 50-yard dash in 6.3 and has long jumped 17-6.

Rounding out the "tall" players are 5-10 freshman Karen Healy of Belleville, N. J., 5-11 freshman Sandra Schuster of Anna, Ill., and 5-8 freshman forward Linda Blackburn of McLean County. Blackburn was honorable mention All-State.

Other recruits include 5-0 guard Patsy Barton of Eaton, Oh., 5-6 guard Lisa Davis of Louisville Iroquois, 5-4 guard Kathy Hughes of Paducah St. Mary who was named First Team, All-Purchase last year; 5-7 forward Amy Flory of Fairborn, Oh., 5-5 forward-guard Ida Prather of Louisville Valley, 5-5 guard Sherri Tramel of Evansville Reitz and 5-1 guard Debbie Gentry of Hopkinsville.

The only junior college recruit is 5-6 Wanda Schwartz of Noblesville, Ind. She played as a forward and guard for Vincennes which two years ago, took third place in the jumbo nationals.

"Last year we had a young team and were plagued with injuries," Rowlett said.

"But we've had a good year in recruiting. Really, I guess it's the best recruiting year we've had since I've been here."

"We should be as tall as anyone we play and we should have good speed," Rowlett added.

There are no rules governing the women as to when they can start practice so it is beginning this week. The first game will be more or less a practice game against Fort Campbell November 13.

The first actual game will be at Western November 29. The first home game for the Racer women is set for Dec. 4 with Southeast Missouri. So if things go right, women's basketball could get very popular in a hurry.

Long Fall?

Will there be some changes made in the Murray State football lineup?

In all probability, yes.

Defense is great. But Saturday night proved defense can't win games by itself.

The question most people seem to be asking is this: Why can't Bruce Walker run at tailback?

The answer is: Only Bill Furgerson knows for sure.

Regardless of who is running the ball, there has to be some blocking up front. There wasn't much of that Saturday. Besides, Walker has been so valuable as a defensive back and a kickoff return specialist that to move him to tailback could hurt the secondary.

If Murray is blown off the field at Western Carolina Saturday, then look for some wholesale changes. You might see some defensive people moving to the offensive line.

One thing we will agree on: It may well be a very long season with few, if any, bright spots.

Ali And Norton Appear To Help Promote Sales Pitch For Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — The sweat poured off Ken Norton, but nobody seemed to notice. Not even the man who stared at him from the steps of City Hall — Muhammad Ali.

Norton and Ali came down out of the Catskills Monday, where they are building themselves up for their heavyweight title fight, to build up ticket sales for that Sept. 28 matchup at Yankee Stadium.

It was an Ali kind of day. He preened and shouted and goaded.

"I'll destroy Norton," shouted Ali from the steps while awaiting Norton to finish his sparring. "Norton must fall."

"Thump, thump," — Norton pounded on and pushed with a sparring partner before a crowd of about 4,000 persons.

"Fifteen ... ten, nine ..." publicist John Condon announced as the final round wound down.

Then it was over and Norton left to polite applause, climbed the steps, with Ali shaking his fist at him, paused briefly beside the champion — and was gone.

"What did you say to him," Norton was asked later about his obvious exchange with Ali. "Nothing," said Norton to the few people in the room. Ali was on stage outside.

Norton, who has realized the attention that goes with good looks and a couple of motion picture roles, which he has had, has fought Ali twice — winning and losing split 12-round decisions. And being a bit player to the champion outside the ring doesn't openly bother him.

"I'd rather be in the hills," Norton said of his bit to sell the fight for which he is guaranteed $1 million, $5 million less than Ali. "It doesn't bother me. It's necessary."

"He's gonna have to fight — all this talkin' he's doin' — I know I got him worried — all the talk," Norton said, paying no attention to the lack of attention, although it seemed to irritate trainer Bill Slayton.

Schmidt Belts Two Homers For Phils In Win, Seaver Blanks Bucs

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

Strong performances by a power hitter and a power pitcher have pulled the two contending teams in the National League East one game further apart.

The power hitter is Mike Schmidt, the present king of the home run sluggers, who belted a pair of homers Monday night in leading the Philadelphia Phillies over the Montreal Expos, 7-2.

"Both pitchers would like to have back those pitches," said Schmidt after his two homers helped give first-place Philadelphia its first two-game winning streak since Aug. 23-24.

The power pitcher is Tom Seaver, the three-time Cy Young Award winner, who fired a five-hitter and struck out 12 in pitching the New York Mets to a 5-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"I believe I am throwing harder than last year," said Seaver after he sent the Pirates to only their third loss in 18 games. "I have developed my strength back from that injury of two years ago. Most of my strikeouts tonight were on fastballs that jammed the hitter."

The result of all this muscle is that the Phillies and Pirates each have 20 games remaining, and Philadelphia holds a fivegame bulge.

Elsewhere in the NL, Atlanta beat Los Angeles 5-1 but lost the second game 4-3; St. Louis edged the Chicago Cubs 4-3, and San Francisco nipped San Diego 3-2 in 10 innings.

Schmidt slammed his first homer and 34th of the season in the first inning and the Phillies were on their way to their fifth victory in 19 games. His solo homer in the fifth, his 35th, gave him the major league lead by one over the Mets' Dave Kingman.

The Mets struck for all five runs in the seventh inning. Bud Harrelson and Bruce Boiesclair each knocked in a run with singles, Felix Millan's single drove in two more and John Milner doubled home the final run.

Cards 4, Cubs 3

Bob Forsch scattered 11 hits for the complete-game victory. And his hitting made the difference.

The Cards scored their fourth run in the eighth off

Darold Knowles on two walks and a double by Forsch. That run proved decisive when the Cubs closed to 4-3 in the ninth on RBI singles by Joe Wallis and Bill Madlock.

Braves 5-3, Dodgers 1-4
Pinch-hit singles by Reggie Smith and Manny Mota highlighted a four-run sixth inning that gave Los Angeles a split of its doubleheader with Atlanta.

In the opener, Rod Gilbreath drove home the decisive runs with a two-run double in the seventh and Frank LaCorte threw a five-hitter for his first complete game of the season.

Giants 3, Padres 2

Marty Perez doubled home Dave Rader in the 10th inning for his third RBI of the game, giving San Francisco its victory over San Diego.

Padres right-hander Tom Griffin, who had a no-hitter going through seven innings, lost the no-hitter and his shutout in the eighth. Ken Reitz stroked a leadoff single and Perez laced a two-run single.

Sign Guard

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association announced Monday they had signed guard Freemond Blade.

Blade, a native of Akron, Ohio, attended Anderson (Ind.) College for two years, and spent the last two years at Eastern Montana College. He was drafted by the 76ers in the fourth round this year.

Royals Drop Twinbill To Chisox, Lead Over A's Only Four Games

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

With a good series against the Minnesota Twins behind him, Kansas City Manager Whitey Herzog thought he had the American League West title all wrapped up.

But things suddenly took a turn for the worse Monday night when the Royals dropped both ends of a doubleheader to the Chicago White Sox, 4-3 and 5-4.

The two losses cut Kansas City's lead to four games over the Oakland A's, whose game against Minnesota Monday night was rained out.

"It looks like it's going to boil down to the six games we have left with Oakland," Herzog said. "We have to beat them. That's all there is to it."

Chicago won both contests in the eighth inning and got complete games from starters Chris Knapp, 3-1, and Ken Bretz, 10-9, who had to face brother George, Kansas City's third baseman, for the first time ever during the regular season.

Kevin Bell's sacrifice fly in the eighth inning won the opener, and Jim Spencer smashed a three-run homer in the eighth for the nightcap victory.

"Those guys (the White Sox) played like world champions," Herzog said. "We've got to come up with a big win, something to give us a spark. We didn't play poorly tonight. They just came up with the big hits."

George Brett, hitting .338 and battling teammate Hal McRae (.340) all season for the AL batting title, faced his brother five times in the second game, got two singles and a run.

But he said there was no special emphasis placed on their first meeting.

Tigers 3, Yanks 1
Rusty Staub and Willie Horton hit successive sixth-inning homers and Detroit starter Jim Crawford picked up his first victory in seven decisions with the help of reliever John Hiller. It was Hiller's 13th save.

The loss, coupled with Baltimore's triumph, cut New York's lead in the American League East to 9½ games.

Orioles 5, Brewers 3
Tony Muser, inserted as a defensive replacement in the ninth inning, smacked a two-run homer in the 10th that boosted the Orioles past Milwaukee. Reggie Jackson had doubled in front of Muser, who hadn't homered since the 1974 season.

Fred Holsworth got his fourth victory without a loss, while Brewer reliever Bill Castro, 4-5, took the loss.

Indians 8, Red Sox 3
Rico Carty, Cleveland's 36-

year-old designated hitter, led a 13-hit Cleveland attack with two doubles, two singles and an RBI as the Indians battered the Red Sox.

Dennis Eckersley, 11-12, was the winner with relief help from Dave LaRoche.

Angels 6, Rangers 2
Joe Hoerner walked home

Andy Etchebarren in the 14th inning for the go-ahead run, and the Angels exploded four runs to down the Rangers.

Wildcats' Ramsey Selected As Southeastern Back Of The Week

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — It took Derrick Ramsey only two plays to show unsuspecting Oregon State and 57,000 Kentucky fans that he and the Wildcats' new wishbone offense were made for each other.

The 6-foot-4½, 222-pound junior from Camden, N.J., fired 17 yards to Greg Woods for that initial touchdown to begin the greatest afternoon of his career. In the two quarters he played, Ramsey added touchdown runs of 4, 8, and 7 yards and passed for another touchdown.

For that five-touchdown performance, Ramsey was named The Associated Press Southeastern Back of the Week.

After a troublesome season trying to run the veer offense last season, Ramsey was thrilled when Kentucky Coach Fran Curci installed the wishbone last spring. "It is suited to his talent because he's such a strong runner," Curci said.

"I'm more familiar with it because I ran it in high school," said Ramsey. "It allows you more time to read (defensive keys), and instead of going down the line, you drop back." Ramsey credited his offensive line, a patchwork unit that dominated Oregon State throughout the game, with much of his effectiveness.

Dolphins Take 30-21 Victory Over Bills To Spoil Simpson's Debut

By MARVIN R. PIKE
AP Sports Writer
BUFFALO (AP) — The night belonged to Miami's Norm Bulaich and Bob Griese. Part of it belonged to Buffalo's O.J. Simpson.

It was Bulaich and Griese and the rest of the Miami gang who carried the Dolphins to a 30-21 victory over the Buffalo Bills Monday night in a National Football League season-opening game.

And it was Simpson, their great running back, playing only a bit more than 24 hours after rejoining the Bills, who electrified the crowd of 77,683 with his twisting and speed after catching a fourth-quarter pass for a 43-yard gain.

The game was costly for Buffalo. Fullback Jim

Braxton, whose blocks helped Simpson gain much of his yardage the last five seasons, is finished for the year.

In all, Simpson toted the ball five times for 28 yards.

Bulaich, meanwhile, ripped apart the Buffalo defense with 107 yards on 19 carries.

"It was just great blocking by our offensive line," he explained. "It was just reading them and keying off their blocks that worked."

Griese completed 13 of 21 passes for 199 yards and one touchdown.

Simpson, who asked three months ago to be traded to a West Coast team for family and business reasons, said that with Braxton gone "I'll just have to get ready quicker."

Miami scored first with Benny Malone going over from the five in the first period. Buffalo deadlocked the game early in the second period as Joe Ferguson found John Holland with a 53-yard pass. Later in the game, the pair teamed for a 58-yard touchdown.

In between the Holland touchdowns, Don Nottingham tallied from one yard out. Then, Garo Yepremian booted the first of three field goals from the 25. The others came from 25 and 30 yards.

Nat Moore took a 30-yard scoring pass from Griese, and Buffalo closed out the scoring with Ferguson's 12-yard pass to Bob Chandler.

Buffalo's John Leypoldt had one field goal attempt blocked and two efforts went wide.

That upset Saban no end.

"Merv Krakau broke down on the first one and there was nothing wrong with the other two kicks, except for the man who kicked them," he said.

Then, talking about Braxton's injury, Saban said: "It's funny. We spent the whole nine weeks getting Braxton ready to be the big man in our offense and he lasts two plays."

NOTICE

The Grain Companies of Murray, Ky. wish to notify the Corn Producers of this area that effective Tuesday, September 14, 1976 we will not accept corn higher than 23 per cent moisture until further notice.

This action is necessary because the higher moisture corn reduces the speed of drying and requires more natural gas. The corn crop is nearly three times larger than normal and as we are also hampered by a shortage of rail transportation. We will greatly appreciate your cooperation during this period and we will be happy to run moisture tests for you. For further information contact:

Politics

then chased the sun across the country, ending his day in Arizona.

For Ford, the second week of the campaign began like the first week — with the President studiously remaining away from the campaign trail.

Although he was not seeing any potential voters, plenty of them were seeing him as he signed bills at ceremonies designed to put him before the television cameras and emphasizing his White House residency.

Ford, who has left the White House only once since the fall campaign season began on Labor Day, plans to leave Washington on Wednesday for a speech at his alma mater, the University of Michigan. He planned to meet with his speech writers today to polish the Michigan address.

In his interview today, Ford said he will use his Michigan speech to review his record, and he promised some surprises.

Questioned in the Oval Office by reporters in New York who used a long-distance television hookup, the President gave this as the thrust of his upcoming speech:

"While we've faced some tough problems in the last two years, we have restored trust in the White House; we have turned the economy around; and we have achieved peace, and we have the capability and will to maintain it."

State Education Board Meets Today

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The quarterly meeting of the Kentucky Board of Education is scheduled for today and Wednesday.

The agenda includes discussion of new regulations to implement the state's open records law and to provide for an orderly procedure for merger of independent and county school districts.

Crime Council Meeting Is Set

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The 17th annual conference of the Kentucky Council on Crime is scheduled to begin here today.

Justice Secretary John L. Smith will deliver the keynote address Wednesday.

Council President Jim Atchison said he expects more than 500 to attend.

Correction Forums Scheduled Today

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Correction forums are scheduled today between residents of Shelby, Oldham and Trimble counties and state Corrections Commissioner David Bland.

Bland has said he plans to visit every Kentucky county within the year to meet with county and city officials and citizens to discuss problems the communities face in the corrections area.

The commissioner began the forum program two weeks ago, visiting Bath, Clark and Montgomery counties.

He will hold meetings at 10 a.m. in the fiscal court room at the Shelby County Courthouse; at 1 p.m. in the circuit judge's office at the La Grange courthouse and at 3:30 p.m. in the Bedford courthouse.

Dole Gives Little Hope For Avoiding Army Depot Shutdown

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Expressing sympathy with about 2,600 Lexington area workers who will be out of jobs when the Blue Grass Army Depot closes, Republican vice presidential nominee Robert Dole, however, says there is little hope for any political maneuvering to avert the shutdown.

"I can't say with finality that the book is closed, but I'll check on it," Dole said during his five-hour visit to Lexington Monday.

"We have got to look at the facts. Military manpower has been reduced from about 3.5 million to 2.1 million. We're faced each year in Congress with more and more defense budget cuts," Dole said.

"I'm suggesting if we don't have the money we can't maintain some of these bases," he added.

Dole said he sympathized with those who might lose their jobs at the depot because an Army base was closed some years ago in his own district.

"At the time, I couldn't find my two senators. Somebody told me they only announce openings and never closings," Dole said.

The senator from Kansas promised to discuss the Blue Grass Depot matter with President Ford.

"I'll be glad to suggest we take another look at it, but I think it's sort of a false hope to say I'll look at it next year," he said.

Asked if the Republican Party had written off Kentucky to the Democrats, Dole said, "I wouldn't be down here if I were writing it off."

"We're very hopeful in Kentucky. In fact, we see signs of change in the south and border states and we're going to continue to work hard," he said.

Foreign Roundup

Ford's decision stemmed from election-year politics, but Scranton denied this.

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger flies to Tanzania today on the first stage of a search for peace in southern Africa. A senior American official aboard Kissinger's plane said the secretary of state in his new venture in shuttle diplomacy hopes to convince three key leaders that agreement on the form, forum and agenda for black-white negotiations is necessary before the summer rains fall. The three men are Presidents Julius Nyerere of Tanzania and Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia and Prime Minister John Vorster of South Africa.

State Police Open Local Base Offices

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — State police have opened local base offices in Shelby, Scott and Fayette counties in a pilot program to bring officers closer to the public.

The bases were put into operation last week on a six-months trial period in rent-free space provided by the county governments.

Police said if the program proves successful it will be expanded statewide as the budget permits.

Eventually, police hope to have a toll-free telephone number which citizens can use to make reports or ask for assistance.
